LEAVE ONLY FOOTPRINTS AFTER YOUR TOUR

Life's An Adventure commitment to sustainability ensures our guests enjoy, appreciate and learn the importance of preserving and protecting the landscapes we visit and its inhabitants. The ethos of our walking holidays across Australia is to minimise our footprint, working towards a leave no trace outcome and emphasizing the elements of conservation in all elements of operations across the business.

We are firmly against businesses that disturb our National Parks by the construction of buildings and structures. On all tours we utilise existing accommodation close to the trails, which not only support these local accommodation providers, but also minimises our impact on the environment.

We also support local communities by buying local produce, working closely with local businesses such as cruise companies, chefs, wineries and small local cafes with the same environmental ethos as us, as well as hiring local guides.

ECO TOURISM ACCREDITATION

We hold Eco Tourism Accreditation with EcoTourism Australia, this accreditation is given to ecologically sustainable tourism companies with a primary focus on experiencing natural areas that foster environmental and cultural understanding, appreciation and conservations.

GREEN GUARDIAN PROGRAM

Our project is working with PWS, Birdlife Tasmania and the Department's Resource Management and Conservation Branch. Whilst walking along the wild and remote beaches in Tasmania, we will identify a number of threatened and vulnerable shorebird and migratory shorebird species. This important work will aid in assessing shorebird populations and habitat quality, both of which have been seriously affected by human activity. The vital information collected will be uploaded into the Department's Natural Values Atlas where it will assist in improving conservation outcomes, planning. Life's An Adventure has partnered with the Tasmanian Parks and Wildlife Service to promote environmental conservation through the Green Guardian program. As part of the Green Guardian program, our guests are given conservation volunteer opportunities during their walks and decision making.

LEAVE ONLY FOOTPRINTS AFTER YOUR TOUR

OUTDOORS PEOPLE FOR CLIMATE

Life's An Adventure supports 'Outdoors People for Climate' who are a grassroots community of people who love, live, and work in the Australian outdoors. Climate change and other ecological stressors are causing irreversible damage to the wild places we love and will make it progressively harder for Australians to access the outdoors. Outdoors People for Climate are here to add to the growing call for meaningful, ambitious, and rapid political and business leadership on climate change in Australia. It is time for Australians to come together, listen to the science, take action, promote solutions and support positive change for people, the planet, and the outdoors. It's clear: when nature thrives, people thrive. What's more, individuals, communities, and governments already possess the solutions needed to tackle the climate crisis and in turn create a better future, but we must act urgently.

LEAVE ONLY FOOTPRINTS AFTER YOUR TOUR

CONSERVATION OF OUR ENVIRONMENT

Our walks are all in stunning natural areas, and we want them to be there for future generations to enjoy.

So on our tours we're super considerate and follow a few simple rules to minimise any environmental damage on our wow-mazing walk experiences for you to follow.

When Walking...

Stay on the track, even if it's rough or muddy. Walking on the track edges and cutting corners on steep, zigzagging tracks increases erosion and visual scarring.

Tread softly, choosing your footwear for the terrain. Often you will only need to wear lightweight walking boots or even running shoes.

If there are no tracks, spread out rather than follow each other's footsteps. A plant will be more likely to recover if walked on once than if stomped on by the whole party.

Appreciate and respect the local wildlife. Walk as quietly as possible. This reduces the likelihood of disturbing wildlife and increases the chances of seeing it.

Carry all rubbish with you. Even discarded organic litter such as apple cores or orange skin adds nutrients to the soil which can aid the spread of weeds.

Only use toothpaste and soap if you're at least 50m from any waterways, to prevent harm to fish and other wildlife.

Please don't feed native animals – it can damage their health and make them dependent on campers for food. The wrong food can cause birds to lay eggs with weak shells that break before the young can develop. Find out more about how feeding native animals can affect them, their behaviour and you.

No damage or removal of native plant species.

No removal of shells from beaches, coastal areas or inland middens.

Try to leave everything as you found it. Don't disturb historic places, Aboriginal sites, plants, animals or bush-rock.

LET'S INTRODUCE OURSELVES

THE LIFE'S AN ADVENTURE PACK-FREE STORY

Life's An Adventure Company Director Mark Norek was born and bred in Tasmania, and has a passion hiking ever since he was president of his high school bushwalking club. Mark started walking with his wife Vicki and to get her to walk more often he would add the finer things in life to the walk so that she would come along and do it more often... such as footbaths, bottles of wine and her favourite liqueur Bailey's for her!

This translated some 12 years ago into starting a business called Life's an Adventure where the goal is to make every walk a more enjoyable experience for all and taking heavy packs out of the equation – and hence we added the tag-line to our logo 'The Pack-free Walking Experience'

They also wanted to offer the best accommodation and fine dining in the area as we currently do on our Three Capes walking tour. They then added to that wow factors to reach more remote areas by helicopter or boat.

Mark and Vicki have carefully designed all our tours to give good value and quality in Pack Free walk, so you carry as little as your camera, water and raincoat (if required). Our guides are all passionate and are incredibly sociable and proud of their state, and this comes through with their guidance through the area.

Enjoy the walk, and feel free to share your photos with us of your memorable experience.
